Membership in the MMLA is for the fiscal year; persons who join are enrolled as members for the year in which they join from July 1 of the current year until June 30 of the subsequent year unless they take out a multi-year membership. For appropriate forms, see the MMLA's website at www.luc.edu/mmla.

The MMLA Journal

Spring 2016 Editors: Kathryn Dolan, Andrea Knutson

Fall 2016 Editors: Jason Arthur, Erika Behrisch Elce

Book Review Editor: Christopher Kendrick

Subscription/Production Coordinator: Linda Winnard

Editorial Assistant: Jennifer Frey

The Journal, formerly the Bulletin, is published bi-annually at the Executive Offices of the Midwest Modern Language Association at Loyola University Chicago. Authors of manuscripts and book reviews published in the Journal must be members of the MMLA. Officers and members of the Executive Committee serve as the Editorial Board.

Statement of Editorial Policy

The Journal is published as a service to MMLA members, who are encouraged to submit articles on special topics announced in advance on the web site and in the Journal.

Business Inquiries

All communications including matters concerning address changes, advertising, permissions and subscriptions should be directed to the Midwest Modern Language Association, Department of English, Loyola University Chicago, 1032 W. Sheridan Road, Chicago, IL 60660. Phone calls may be made to (773) 508-6057. Our e-mail address is mmla@luc.edu. Our fax number is 773-508-8696 and our website address is www.luc.edu/mmla.

GENERAL INFORMATION ABOUT THE MEETING

Associated Meetings. Because of shared disciplinary interests, MMLA annually provides time and meeting space during its convention for the meeting of other organizations referred to in the program as “Associated Organizations.” These meetings are open to all who are registered for the MMLA Convention and display an identification badge. Associated meetings will be held this year by the following organizations: American Religion and Literature Society, Association for the Study of Literature and the Environment, Dickens Society, Festival of Language, International Harold Pinter Society, Midwest Victorian Studies Association, Society for the Study of Midwestern Literature, TS Eliot Society and Women in French.

Child Care. Please contact the Hilton at the Ballpark St. Louis to speak to the concierge, who can supply a list of bonded child-care providers.

Job Interviews. Department chairs and job applicants are welcome to use the meeting as a convenient occasion for scheduling interviews, but the Association suggests that candidates and school representatives make plans in advance by exchanging information and setting up appointments through correspondence. (The MMLA does not have sufficient administrative personnel to provide a faculty exchange system at the convention.)

Governance of Sections. The Permanent Sections of the MMLA are governed according to the “Revised Guidelines.” In brief, the secretary of each section, to be elected at the Annual Convention, becomes its chair the next year. In order to establish a new permanent section of the MMLA Annual Convention, members should propose a forum for approval by the Program Committee. After three consecutive years of successful meetings of the forum, a petition for permanent status should be sent to the MMLA Office for recommendation by the Program Committee and a decision by the Executive Committee. The petition should include a statement of purpose and the signatures of at least twenty current MMLA members.

Location of Meeting Rooms. Nearly all regularly scheduled meetings and events will be held on the second floor of the Hilton at the Ballpark St. Louis. The only room in use on the first floor is the Market Street Room, which will hold sessions for the Civil War Caucus on Friday and Saturday. On Sunday, the closing breakfast buffet will be in the Broadway I room. Please refer to the hotel floor plans in this program book.

Membership in the MMLA. Anyone who wishes to enroll as a member for 2016 may do so during the meeting at the Registration Desk or by mail to MMLA, Department of English, Loyola University Chicago, 1032 W. Sheridan Road, Chicago, IL 60660. See “Membership Information” on previous page for more information. Payment of membership dues does not constitute payment of the meeting registration.

Pre-registration and Registration. The pre-registration fees for forms received by October 15, 2016 are as follows: regular registration, $105; special (for students, retired, part-time, and unemployed persons only), $55. Any forms that arrive after the October 15 deadline will not be accepted and funds will be returned. Late and on-site registration will then be necessary. Late and on-site registration fees are as follows: regular registration, $160; special (for students, retired, part-time, and unemployed persons only), $80. Because all persons attending the meeting are required to register, IDENTIFICATION BADGES WILL BE REQUIRED FOR ADMISSION TO MEETING ROOMS. Identification badges will be available at the MMLA’s Registration Desk, located on the second floor of the Hilton at the Ballpark. Hours are as follows: 9:00 a.m. to 5:15 p.m. on Thursday; 8:00 a.m. to 5:15 p.m. on Friday; 8:00 a.m. to 4:30 p.m. on Saturday. Payment of the registration fee does not constitute payment for membership in the Association. Cash and checks are accepted. We are unable to accept credit cards on site.

Americans with Disabilities Act: Those registrants who require special accommodations are welcome to indicate their needs in the spaces provided on the registration form. Every effort will be made to accommodate registrants with ADA-related needs.

Future Conventions of the MMLA:

2017: Hilton Cincinnati Netherland Plaza, Cincinnati, OH 45202 (November 9-12)

2018: Kansas City Marriot Downtown, Kansas City, MO 64105 (November 15-18)

2019: Hilton Chicago, Chicago, IL 60605 (November 14-17)

2017 Proposed Sessions: Any MMLA member may propose a topic for a special session at the 2017 Annual Convention by emailing us at mmla@luc.edu. The deadline for submission of special session topics or call for papers for the 2017 Annual Convention is February 15, 2017. In making its selection, the MMLA Program Committee will take the following into account: thoroughness of proposal, originality of contribution, and balance and diversity of the total Annual Convention program. Availability of meeting space will determine the total number of proposals that can be included.

MLA Professionalizing Workshop

Connected Academics

Recent MLA research on career outcomes for language and literature PhD recipients found that almost 30% were not working as post-secondary faculty members. Dennis Looney, Director of Programs and the Association of Departments of Foreign Languages, provides information about the MLA's Connected Academics project, which helps doctoral programs and their students actively recognize the expanded range of employment options that PhDs actually pursue and supports making career development a more effective part of doctoral education. The program supports initiatives aimed at demonstrating how doctoral education can develop students' capacities to bring the expertise they require in advanced humanistic study to a wide range of fulfilling, secure, and well-compensated professional situations.

Dennis Looney will be joined by Dr. Jody Sowell, Curator of Exhibitions and Research at the Missouri History Museum, who will speak about the linkages and differences between academic and public humanities work, and how departments and faculty in humanities programs can support graduate students examining a range of career options.

Your First Year on the Job: How to Prepare for Your New Faculty Position

Emily Isaacson, Heidelberg University; Emily Lutenski, Saint Louis University; Zak Watson, Missouri Southern State University; Andrea Knutson, Oakland University

Graduate students often receive mentorship on research and teaching, but not about the other components about faculty careers. Additionally, new faculty members often receive little advice about acclimating to new institutional contexts, moving from job to job, and taking on a range of faculty positions--as assistant professors, non-tenure-track faculty, postdoctoral fellows, visiting faculty, or administrators, for example. This panel seeks to shed light on the varieties of work we do as faculty members, address aspects of faculty jobs often ignored during graduate training, and, most of all, answer questions from audience members preparing for new faculty positions.

11:30 am to 12:40 pm in Grand Salon C

Getting It Published

Samuel Cohen, University of Missouri; Nathan Grant, Saint Louis University; Gordon Hutner, University of Illinois at Urbana-Champaign

Samuel Cohen is series editor of the University of Iowa Press's The New American Canon: The Iowa Series in Contemporary Literature and Culture, a former co-editor of the Journal of the Midwest Modern Language Association, and the author of After the End of History: American Fiction in the 1990s. Since 2008, Nathan Grant has edited African American Review, one of the foremost scholarly journals in African American literary studies. He is also the author of Masculinist Impulses: Toomer, Hurston, Black Writing, and Modernity. This workshop is an opportunity to be oriented to and ask questions about the scholarly book and journal publication process. Gordon Hutner is the founder and editor of American Literary History, and he directs the series Oxford Studies in American Literary History for Oxford University Press. He has also authored or edited several books, including What America Read: Taste, Class, and the Novel, 1920-1960 (2009).

2:30 pm to 3:45 pm in Grand Salon C Room

Plenary Reading by Rattawut Lapcharoensap

Lapcharoensap is the author of the acclaimed short story collection Sightseeing (2005), which won the Asian American Literary Award, was a finalist for the Guardian first book award, and earned Lapcharoensap the distinction of being named one of the "5 under 35" by the National Book Foundation. Granta subsequently named him a "Best Young American Novelist," and he won a 2010 Whiting Writers' Award. He is a Writer-In-Residence at the University of Wyoming, where he teaches in the MFA program in creative writing.

Thursday 5:30 pm to 6:30 pm in Grand I to III Rooms

Recent MLA research on career outcomes for language and literature PhD recipients found that almost 30% were not working as post-secondary faculty members. Dennis Looney, Director of Programs and the Association of Departments of Foreign Languages, provides information about the MLA’s Connected Academics project, which helps doctoral programs and their students actively recognize the expanded range of employment options that PhDs actually pursue and supports making career development a more effective part of doctoral education.

Dennis Looney will be joined by Dr. Jody Sowell, Curator of Exhibitions and Research at the Missouri History Museum, who will speak about the linkages and differences between academic and public humanities work, and how departments and faculty in humanities programs can support graduate students examining a range of career options.

Special Session

Saturday 10:00 am to 11:15 am in Gateway 1 Room

Chair: Carla Manzoni, St. Olaf College

This collaborative panel explores an approach to “content-infused” instruction in first and second semester Spanish courses at St. Olaf College. These courses function as a pathway to intermediate level content-based courses focusing on cultural diversity and sustainability in the Hispanic world designed by St. Olaf faculty. The session will provide a rationale and a theoretical basis for infusing first and second semester Spanish courses with content, by approaching commercial textbooks with content with an eye to bridging the language/content gap between lower and upper level courses.

1. Emily Isaacson, Heidelberg University
2. Emily Lutenski, Saint Louis University
3. Zak Watson, Missouri Southern State University
4. Andrea Knutson, Oakland University

Graduate students often receive mentorship on research and teaching, but not about the other components about faculty careers. Additionally, new faculty members often receive little advice about acclimating to new institutional contexts, moving from job to job, and taking on a range of faculty positions--as assistant professors, non-tenure-track faculty, postdoctoral fellows, visiting faculty, or administrators, for example. This panel seeks to shed light on the varieties of work we do as faculty members, address aspects of faculty jobs often ignored during graduate training, and, most of all, answer questions from audience members preparing for new faculty positions.

178. Yes, You Will Be Teaching 101: Jobs at Non-Elite, Non-Research Institutions

Professionalizing Roundtable

Saturday 1:00 pm to 2:15 pm in Grand Salon C Room

While we all train as specialists in graduate school, many of us wind up working at small liberal arts institutions, community colleges, or regional comprehensive universities. This means our teaching loads will be higher than those loads of faculty at research universities. More importantly, this means our teaching loads will likely be much more varied and diverse than those of the faculty at the schools where we were graduate students. Of necessity, many of us become generalists in our fields, rather than the specialists we trained to be. This roundtable group will discuss the challenges and opportunities of teaching at non-research oriented institutions, including what happens to our research, our teaching, and our service, both in our institutions and the profession at large

1. Susan Shelangoskie, Lourdes University
